

Other Memorials

The names of all those buried in the churchyard are entered into a memorial book kept in the church. A booklet is available explaining our policy on gifts made to the church in memory of a loved one.

There is an annual service to remember those who have died in the previous year. This is held on the first Sunday in November at St Matthew's Church in Wigmore.

St Peter's Services

There is always a Sunday service at 11.00am

There is a quiet evening service every 4th Sunday at 6.30pm

For details of other services and services at our other churches, please see the website or Spiral, the parish magazine.

Volunteering

We rely entirely on volunteers to keep the churchyard looking beautiful. Talk to your minister for details of how to join our band of helpers.

Guidelines for Memorials in the Churchyard

This booklet has been prepared to help families make the right decisions for them and their loved ones at a very difficult time.

The regulations help us to keep the churchyard as a naturally beautiful area where the bereaved can find peace and comfort

Before the Funeral

Anyone who dies in our parish, or had their permanent address or was on the parish electoral roll at the time of their death, has a right to be buried in the churchyard.

Before deciding to have a burial at St Peter's, please remember that churchyard regulations are very restrictive and that we are required to strictly enforce them. Only a simple headstone in natural weathering stone with a basic inscription is allowed. Statues, chippings, vases, shrubs, and many other things that families like to place on a grave are forbidden and will be removed without notice.

Regulations in local authority cemeteries are usually more flexible.

If you are in any doubt, please talk to your Funeral Director or the Minister before finally deciding on the place of burial.

After the Funeral

You will want to keep the grave tidy by removing wreaths and flowers as they begin to wither. Please take these home for disposal. You can continue to lay fresh flowers on the grave as you wish.

When the ground settles we strongly recommend putting grass over the grave (we can do this for you) or, if you are sure you will visit regularly, use good compost for planting annual flowers or bulbs.

Kerbstones and stone chippings are dangerous and will be removed.

Shrubs make maintenance difficult and will also be removed.

After about six months you can start thinking about a memorial. Please be careful with choosing from the brochures of mail order companies – many designs are not allowed in our churchyard. The supplier will complete the form requesting permission for the memorial. This form is then sent via the parish office to the minister who took the service for approval. Only when approval has been given should the order be confirmed.

Simple Rules for Memorials

You are allowed:

An approximately rectangular headstone in natural weathering stone. (The headstone may have a rounded or similar top.)

A simple inscription in black lettering

Some alternative memorials may be approved but talk to the clergy first.

Small plants, bulbs, etc., Cut flowers

Grassing over (this is by far the best way of keeping a grave looking nice and we can arrange it for you.)

You are not allowed:

Black or dark-grey stones, (except slate, which is acceptable), granite or marble, books, hearts, arches, etc. or with pierced holes.

Polished stones, Gilded lettering, Inappropriate inscriptions
(= sentimental or incompatible with the Christian faith)

Photographs or other depictions of the deceased, Coloured images

Additional memorials, statues, etc. (though sunken vases are allowed)

Kerbstones, Chippings, Artificial flowers

Shrubs or trees (but we welcome offers of such plants for stocking the garden areas of the churchyard)

If we do not approve of a proposed memorial you can appeal by applying for a faculty to the Chancellor (the Diocesan legal officer.) We are happy to explain this procedure, but note that we normally consult with the diocese before making a decision to not approve.

Unfortunately in the past these regulations have not always been observed, therefore please sign below that you have read and understood the Guidelines and return to the Parish office before the Interment takes place.
